It is important to know the issues facing higher education and become educated as to the stance taken by the universities. Learn the best methods of communicating higher education issues. Participants will hear from statewide leaders on their experience and knowledge of higher education and advocacy in the state of Alabama.

As in previous years, there will be specialty break-out sessions, a joint task force meeting, and a meeting of the University Student Government President's Council (USPC). The Higher Education Partnership Board of Directors meeting will also be held during the conference.
